

Science Fiction - writing a story

In literacy we have written stories based on the book 'Fortunately, the milk'. Write your own adventure story and think about the following things below:

- Decide on your characters and settings. Then create a word and/or phrase bank to describe them
- Plan your story including an opening, build-up, problem, resolution and ending
- Try using speech (using inverted commas), to show conversations between characters
- Think about how to make your story effective by using sentence openers, descriptive vocabulary and 'show not tell' sentences
- When you are ready, write your story. Don't forget to give it an effective title
- When you have finished your story, edit and improve it. Have you included the correct punctuation? Do your sentences make sense?
- If you have time, publish your story and include illustrations
