Science
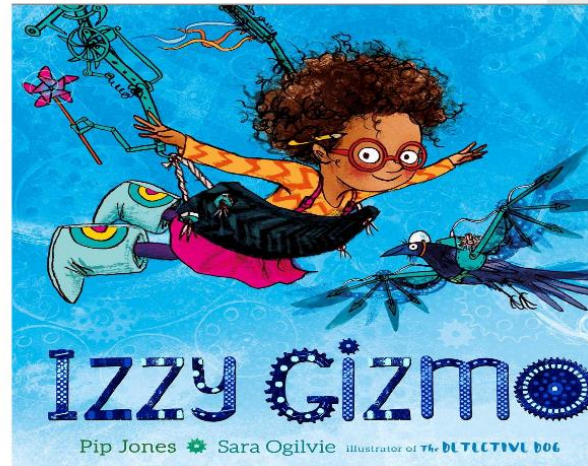

Imagine you have found a baby bird.
The bird can't fly.
You need to create a flying machine to help the baby bird learn to fly again.

You could draw your design and label what it is made from. Or you could have a go at making it using materials you have at home.